

Sample Request Process

From first enquiry to a verified, buyer-specific offer.

SAMPLE PREPARATION AND EVALUATION.

01

Buyer enquiry

You make contact with a requirement in mind.

02

Buyer brief

Use, quality direction, volume, destination and timing.

03

Candidate identification

We identify coffees capable of meeting that brief.

04

Verification

Identity, origin context, process, grade and condition are checked.

05

Sample terms

Availability, quantity, cost and courier terms are agreed.

06

Dispatch and tracking

The sample travels with identification and tracking.

07

Buyer evaluation

You cup and assess the sample against your brief.

08

Verified offer

A buyer-specific offer confirms price, quantity and timing.

HOW THE JOURNEY BEHAVES

The sequence protects both sides

Each stage closes before the next begins. Nothing is dispatched before availability and terms are confirmed, and nothing is priced or committed before the coffee has been verified against your brief.

START HERE

Send your brief

The more precisely the brief is set, the faster a genuine candidate can be identified.

Sourcing access is not reserved inventory. Every sample remains subject to candidate availability and agreed dispatch terms.

BUYER GUIDE

What each side contributes

Your inputs, our verification, and the limits that apply to every sample.

YOU PROVIDE

The buyer brief

Company and destination market
Intended use and roast application
Quality direction sought
Indicative volume and frequency
Target timing and shipment window
Documentation or certification needs

WE VERIFY

Before anything is offered

Candidate identity and stable lot reference
Origin context for the candidate
Process and grade as declared
Physical condition of the coffee
Moisture readings where available
Available supporting quality evidence

SAMPLE TERMS

Confirmed and agreed before dispatch

Sample availability is confirmed first. Sample quantity, cost and courier terms are agreed in writing. Customs clearance, import permits and destination requirements may apply and remain the buyer's responsibility unless agreed otherwise.

WHAT ACCOMPANIES THE SAMPLE

Identification and supporting information

Each sample carries approved identification and the supporting information available at dispatch. Where evidence is not yet available, it is stated rather than implied.

AFTER YOUR FEEDBACK

The route forward

If the candidate fits, we prepare a buyer-specific offer. If it does not, your feedback is used to refine the search and test another candidate.

BOUNDARY

What a sample does not do

A sample does not reserve stock, create exclusivity, guarantee availability or create a commercial commitment. Current price, quantity and delivery timing are confirmed only in a buyer-specific offer.
